Joel Into Space

Outside the Solar System

 Hello! I am OSS 2024, I am an OSS 2024 satellite, and I am orbiting Mars, but in a few days I will leave the Solar System by taking other parts of the way.

 A few days later...

 A few hours later the NASA's rocket takes off.

 The rocket begins approach to the satellite to dock and reestablish it.

 The scientists decide not to let the rocket dock into the satellite. This is because they want to calculate if the propulsion of the star will be enough to hold the satellite.

 Everything goes well and the satellite continues his mission.

 Finally the satellite discovers that while the star there is an intelligent civilization. THE END

$$F = G \frac{M_1 m_2}{r^2}$$
 YES or NO ???

 Finally the scientists decide to let the rocket dock into the satellite.

 But... when the rocket will meet to the satellite that a small satellite will not.
